ECONOMISTS HOLD THEIR 2nd. MEETING

Mr. J. C. Farthing Read a Paper.

KEEN DISCUSSION.

Programme Provides for Five
More Meetings and Eight
More Speakers.

The Political Economy Club held its second meeting in the Arts Building last evening. A large number of members, representing all four years, and Dr. Leacock and Hemmison were present. Everyone took a keen interest in the discussion of the evening, coffee and tobacco greatly adding to everyone's comfort.

J. C. Farthing dealt with the subject,
"The Labor Movement in England," in a very masterly way, and answered the question, "Is it progress or disaster?"
by stating that it was for progress. He maintained his stand with skill and consistency. The following is a brief account of the paper:

First he gave a detailed account of the evolution of Trade Unionism. Beginning with the guilds, he gradually traced them to their present form of trade unions. These guilds first appeared as small unassuming bodies, whose main aim was the protection of their respective trades, but gradually, by means of a series of acts and reforms, they have evolved into what they are at present, powerful and dominating factors in industry. He said the present Labor party is of recent origin. It is a national popular party, founded upon the organized working class movement and open to every worker who labors with hand or brain.
It is not a class group, but an organized political party to which membership is not limited to class or trade, but is open to any unattached democrat who is a believer in the principles which they hold.

He justified the existence of trade unions by the results of their work and influence. Not only did he maintain that the British laborer is not Bolshevik in his ideas or in his demands, he went further, stating that the shortening of hours would result in increased production.

He demanded for the laborer the same rights and pleasures that the upper classes enjoy. One of these pleasures is leisure, and this, he said, was what labor was aiming at, leisure to think, so that he may take the part in the industrial and foreign policy of his country.

The discussion by the individual members was rather protracted, causing the interest that had been taken in the subject. Practically every member present voiced his opinion for and against till the matter was thrashed out to everyone's satisfaction. Such discussion is a very healthy sign, and ought to occupy a large part of the

DEBATE ON LAWS OF IMMIGRATION

"Lit." To Hold an Interesting Meeting On Thursday.

The subject for debate on Thursday is vastly more complicated, and for this season, but not for this only, more interesting to an intelligent audience.
Not only are the laws of immigration to be discussed, but also the consequence of new laws and the neglect of old ones.

Canada has an ever-increasing population, is growing at a rate faster even than that of the United States ever increased. Soon the proportion of foreigners will more than equal that of the colonists whose parents were born in Canada. Of this incoming stream, some are desirable, many are not. But how are we to regulate it? Are the present regulations sufficient guarantee that all immigrants will in a short time prove valuable citizens of Canada?
Should extra precautions be taken? In fact, are they strict enough?

In the past, particularly during the war, circumstances arising from our great industries, our mighty responsibilities to the cause of the Empire, and our correspondingly small man power to fulfill these duties, has given rise to increased immigration of foreigners, who will work for a smaller wage, taking the place of our returned soldiers.
Now, however, our soldiers have re-

DR. MACNAUGHTON GUEST OF SOPHS.

Will Speak at Arts Freshman-
Sophomore Dinner
To-morrow.

Dr. John MacNaughton, M.A., LL.D.
Professor of Classics at McGill until last spring, now at Toronto, has consented to be the guest of Arts '22 at the Freshman-Sophomore Banquet to be held in the Windsor Hotel to-morrow night.

The members of Arts '22 have been in considerable suspense for over a week as to whether the ever-popular Doctor MacNaughton would accept their invitation, and it was with unbounded delight that they heard through their president, that the Doctor had been kind enough to leave his students at 'Varsity for a day or two to speak once more to his admirers of Arts '22. The Freshmen are very lucky indeed that they will be able to hear an address from Doctor Mac-Naughton. The Doctor, besides being one of the most popular professors in the Faculty, has always been very ready to help out the students in their activities, and we have sorely missed him this year. Although we cannot have him back permanently at McGill, at least before the end of this year, the students of the Faculty of Arts are very glad to be able to entertain him for one evening at least. The guests at the banquet are assured a very interesting after-dinner speech from Doctor Mac-Naughton, and it is certain that none of the invited guests will be absent.

The guests of the First Year will be Dean Moyse, Professors T. Ridler,
Davies, Cyrus MacMillan, Hermann
Walter, and the members of Arts '22.
The latter year is exceedingly proud of the fact that Doctor MacNaughton has consented to allow them to do him honor.

The dinner will be strictly informal,
and is scheduled to start at 8.00 p.m.
The success of the gathering is assured. It will in every way measure up to the standard of any similar function held at McGill in recent years.
An interesting programme has been arranged, and the Freshmen are doing their utmost to make the event a record-breaker; with the First Year making every possible effort to treat the Sophomores royally, and the Second Year surpassing themselves in their desire to give Doctor Mac-Naughton a rousing welcome, there is no doubt that every guest will have a memorable time. Arts '22 would suggest to Doctor MacNaughton that he fill his fountain pen well before the dinner, as he will probably be called upon to autograph many menus and programmes.

MEDICAL DINNER.

The Medical Freshman-Sophomore
dinner will be held in the Rose Room of the Windsor Hotel, on Tuesday, Dec. 2nd. Will all those Freshmen who wish to attend kindly get their tickets as soon as possible, in order that some estimate may be obtained of the number attending. Tickets may be had from the following:
Med. '23 — Eager and Murray.
Med. '25 — Harris and Fitzmaurice.
Dentals — Moore and Kelly.

COLLEGE WILL TRAIN FOUR HOCKEY TEAMS

Field Work At Stadium Starts
To-day.

SHAG IN CHARGE.

Prospects For Big Season In Hockey At McGill.

About two months ago, "Shag" took McGill football in hand. To-day, two proud trophies tell what he has done for McGill. Yesterday afternoon
"Shag" took control of the college hockey affairs, and to judge by his authoritative plans for the season, he is going to accomplish just as big things in hockey as he did in football.

The organization meeting of the Hockey Club was attended by over seventy-five enthusiasts, all apparently most eager to get on the ice with a stick in their hand and a puck before them. President Behan opened the meeting and called on the secretary pro-temp. to read the minutes. The next item was the election of a new secretary. Three nominations were made, and the vote gave the office to "Ginger" Russell. After a few remarks, Behan called "Shag" to the chair, and invited him to give a talk on the prospects of the season.

Coach Shaughnessy opened his address by stating that this year McGill is going to have four teams in the various leagues: one in the Intercollegiate, one in the City League, one for the Intermediate League and a Junior team.
This opens up the way for a very extensive squad of players, and it will take almost fifty men to keep four teams in good strength. In addition to this number, there will be the members of the class-teams of every class, for class hockey to be followed up hard this year, and it should develop great class competition.

As the only ice now available comes in blocks, the men will have to start their training in other directions. To overcome the lack of ice, "Shag" has planned extensive field-work for the men who need to get in condition for hockey. As the only men who are in condition just now are the men of the football teams, all others who intend to try for hockey are obliged to turn out at the Stadium daily from this afternoon until ice forms. The work at the Stadium is to consist of road-work, punting, and all the various other forms of conditioners that "Shag" is so familiar with. The men are to be at the Stadium at five o'clock with old clothes, for, needless to say, the field in its present condition is far from being a "chateau lawn."

While the men of the football squads are exempt from this field-work, they, nevertheless, have training to do. This is in the form of shooting practice, to be taken in the basement of the Union, in a room specially fitted up by the

SMALL TURNOUT OF FENCING MEN

Executive Confident Of Larger Attendance at Next Meeting.

The fencing club held its first active meeting last night. Although there was only a comparatively small number present at this meeting, the club is confident that in future there will be a much larger attendance, as there was a slight misunderstanding about the time of the meeting.

The general idea about the college
seems to be that fencing is a "fame" sport; this is a great mistake, as any of those who have participated in it know. For fencing requires easily as much, if not more, speed than boxing,
and as much strength as wrestling,
especially in the wrist and forearm.

As yet, the club has not had a paid instructor. Arrangements are now being made to obtain a professional instructor, and it is almost a certainty that one will be obtained and this will make the club doubly interesting.

In the near future, probably next Friday, the club will hold its next meeting and all those interested in fencing are expected to turn out;
otherwise the fencing club will not be a success.

The club is one devoted to an excellent sport, but it must have an enthusiastic following if it is to carry on effectively. Fencing is an alternate for "gym" work for the first two years.

Lack of Understanding

Readers of newspapers cannot but notice at least two things in connection with almost every matter of dispute or controversy, no matter whether it be international, national, provincial or municipal as the case may be. It matters not what the subject may be in dispute, whether educational, religious, social or moral.

The first thing is, that one side rarely understands the position of the other, and secondly makes little or no attempt to arrive at a satisfactory understanding of the other man's position.

This lack of understanding is nothing new, men having always misunderstood each other, and will continue to do so in the future. Sometimes this arises from temperament, sometimes as a result of environment or training. Little good, however, has been gained by any policy founded on misunderstanding. The only result obtained oftentimes is that participants are apt to take disputes too seriously and so lose their sense of self-control and the final solution of the question at issue—if, indeed, a solution is reached at all—is not satisfactory.

How often in a debate do we find the opposing sides bring the issue fairly before each other. The great fault to be found in so many debates is that one side evades the issue or else overlaps without coming squarely to the point.

One place, more than any other, where a lack of misunderstanding should not be tolerated is a university. Here, more than any other place, truth should be our aim. Any thing that keeps us from a right understanding should be faced, and every possible effort made to remove all causes which make for misunderstandings.

How true are the words of Bacon. "No pleasure is comparable to the standing upon the vantage ground of truth." Certainly it is Heaven upon earth to have a man's mind, move in charity, rest in providence, and turn upon the poles of truth."

DEBATE ON LAWS OF IMMIGRATION

turned; employment is scarce; time is needed to build the businesses that were so patriotically abandoned; and, in the meantime, the returned men are in want. Though they fought for $1.10 a day, they did not expect to return and support a family on $2.00 a day. Our duty is plainly to them first. For this reason immigration might for while be diminished by stricter regulations. It has been proposed that only English-speaking immigrants be allowed to come to Canada. Bolshevism, alias the I.W.W., and similar institutions, with ample coverings, but rotten at the core, are seen to be breaking down industry. From the names of those implicated, we might believe they came from Russia, Germany, Austria; and, from their acting, certainly not Canada.

But will not our foreign immigrants forget their old prejudices and become real Canadians? Will they not with proper training and a proper example be a credit to the country? Would we not be cutting the arteries of the country by restricting immigration and severing the supply of men and women that are needed to build up the country?

As far back as 1911, the foreign-born population totalled 752,732. Especially in Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba the proportion of foreign-born is very large. The subject holds more than meets the eye.

Winning the annual Olympic contest for the esophomores, the freshmen at the University of Nebraska can discard their class caps. The tradition of the university requires that freshmen wear their caps until Thanksgiving if they lose the contest. After the preliminary contests of wrestling and boxing, in which the freshmen came out victorious, a tug of war followed by a flag rush gave the freshmen a score of 68 against the esophomores score of 32.

NOTICES

RETURNED MEN.

At 5.15 to-day there will be held a meeting of the Returned Men of the Faculty of Science, in Room 33.

INTERMEDIATES AND JUNIORS.

An error was made in yesterday's "Daily" concerning the time at which the photograph of the Intermediate and Junior teams would be taken. However, it will be taken to-day, and all men are wanted in uniform at the Stadium at 1 o'clock.

EAL-RINGS.

I should be very much obliged if the person who lost a pearl earring on Union avenue would send me the remaining one, as I cannot wear only one. Leave with the R.V.C. Porter.

All nominations for Faculty Representatives on the Students' Council should be handed in to the secretary of the Students' Council before December 1st. These must be properly signed by 25 duly qualified members of the respective faculties.

Election for the Representatives nominated will take place on December 8th. Those elected will hold office from January 1st, 1920, to January 1st, 1921.

J. A. LALANNE,
Secretary Students Council.

ATTENTION WRESTLERS.

There will be a wrestling practice in the Union at 5.15 sharp to-morrow. Men are asked to be present on time so that work may start early and thus leave time for a longer bout at the finish.

SOCIAL SERVICE CLUB.

There will be an important meeting of the Social Service Club to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Board Room of Strathcona Hall. All students interested in Social Service are invited to be present.

EXECUTIVE OF AMERICAN CLUB.

A meeting is called for to-morrow at 1 p.m. in the Union Common Room for the officers and committee of the American Club.

A meeting of class representatives in Hockey will be held at 7.30 p.m. this evening in the Union.

Presidents of 1st Year Arts, Medicine and Science are requested to send two representatives, all other years one representative.

POLO NOTICE.

To-night the polo team will hold a short workout at 6.15 in the Y.M.C.A. tank. It is hoped that all players will be out. On Wednesday the team will play the Montreal Swimming Club and the result will largely depend on to-night's practice. The following men are requested to turn out without fail:—

Winters, Watters, Laidley, Bastable, Wiggs, Lalsley, Patton, Foss, Owen and Wade.

Last game with the M.S.C. overtime had to be played to decide the result and it was only lack of condition that lost the game for McGill. If all the men turn out to-night, Fisk will be on hand to coach the team, and there is little doubt we will be able to turn the tables on the M.S.C. team on Wednesday.

LAST FOOTBALL.

The last Inter-Faculty football game for the season will be played on Wednesday 2 p.m. at the Stadium—Arts and Law vs. Medicine. Arrangements have been made for providing outfits for those not having same. The dressing room will be at the disposal of the players.

FRENCH THEATRICALS.

There will be a practice of the French plays in the Common Room Tuesday afternoon, 1st year at 1.50. 2nd year at 5.00, 2nd year advanced at 2.00.

Mr. Sherwood Eddy is to speak under the auspices of the Canadian Club of Montreal, at luncheon at Windsor Hotel, at 1 o'clock to-day. McGill men are invited to attend. Tickets for luncheon are on sale at Strathcona Hall, $1.00 each. Mr. Eddy also speaks at St. James Methodist Church in the evening at 8 o'clock.

coach. With these plans carried into action, when ice eventually does come, the men will all be in good condition and the majority of them should be able to shoot to the nets.

The men in charge of the campus rink are getting their boards ready, and are putting things in shape. If this should chance to be an early winter, the squads will start right out at their ice-work; all will be in readiness to profit by the first drop in temperature that will bring ice. Coach Shaughnessy spoke of the possibilities of the teams getting a trip in the Christmas holidays for a few exhibition games in the West or at the Soo. However, nothing definite has been decided upon this by the other colleges.

Which was the greater rogue, Ferdinand of Bulgaria or Constantine of Greece, is a nice point. "Between a louse and a flea I cannot decide the precedence," as Johnson said—London-Saturday Review

AMERICANS TO HOLD DINNER THANKSGIVING

All American Students Cordially Invited.

THURSDAY AT WINDSOR

If a lean and hungry look be observed on the countenances of the American contingent at McGill in the last few days, it must not be surmised that the value of U.S. currency has fallen to the level of Bolshevik paper. The starved faces really are due to a paucity of stomach contents, but not on account of inability to cope with the cost of living in Canada.

The boys from the States are just getting in trim to do more than is just to the Thanksgiving Dinner of the American Club, which occurs on Thursday of this week at the Windsor Hotel.

A large majority of the Americans at McGill have been approached by the ticket-selling representatives of the club, but there are still a few with whom they have been unable to get in communication. These men will have to come half-way and try to see one of the representatives, a list of whom were published in last Friday's "Daily." Prospective attendants at this dinner are urged not to delay in their applications for tickets, so that the Social Committee will not be handicapped.

The programme of speeches has practically been determined. The Honorary President and several other American-born members of the University teaching staff will be present with message that no live American can afford to miss hearing. An attempt is being made to obtain a prominent American business man of Montreal to speak on a subject bearing on the international relations of Canada and the United States.

Altogether, the opportunity of hearing these men, getting acquainted with the other Americans in Montreal, and getting a "feed," the like of which every American is missing in his "old home town" is too infrequent and too valuable to miss. Don't forget! The eagle screams and the turkey squawks—Thursday night—8.30 p.m.—Oak Room—Windsor Hotel.

The Editor, McGill "Daily."

Dear Sir:—

In writing for a second time upon the subject of the Bible Study Groups, I wish to thank Mr. Hart for his courteous reply to my letter in Saturday's "Daily," and to bring to his notice certain points, which he has either misunderstood or else failed to make quite clear.

I am quite satisfied by Mr. Hart's reply to my question on the real object of these Bible Study Groups; namely, as he says, "a free and open discussion of the life of Jesus from the most reliable source available." But I cannot agree with him when he says: "at scepticism, and all the otherisms of religious thought, are bound up with the study of the life of Jesus." "Jesus in the Records," the title of the book which is to be discussed, means a history of the facts relating to the life of Jesus. Now one cannot be sceptical regarding historical facts, if they are facts. Atheism and agnosticism have nothing whatever to do with the life or character of anyone.

Mr. Hart finds fault with me for quoting from last Tuesday's "Daily." Now I was present at the supper at the Hall when the address was given, and only quoted from the article in the "Daily" because I considered it to be a fair and correct report of the words I had heard him utter. I have been assured by many, who were also present at the time, that this assumption is quite correct.

When Mr. Hart says that I am the only one, who has disapproved of his remarks, I think he is making a mistake. Although I am the only one who has protested publicly, yet there are many who consider his words not only misleading but even unfair and most unsuited to the occasion.

In stating that he did not distinguish with sufficient clearness between honest and dishonest scepticism, Mr. Hart makes a very generous admission of fault. But surely even the dishonest sceptic has a right to search for truth and knowledge without being rebuffed at the outset of his search.

In conclusion I must thank Mr. Hart for the straightforward reply to my criticism, although he is at times somewhat incorrect in his conclusions. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the facilities you have afforded us, I remain, Yours sincerely,

F. H. WALTER.

The Editor of the McGill "Daily."

My Dear Sir:—

The paper on Bolshevism printed in the "Daily" on Saturday and attributed to S. Murray, was not written by him, but by J. Grier.

Yours truly,

S. MURRAY.

R.V.C. TO REVIVE FANCY SKATING

Will Also Have Swimming Party in Near Future.

At a business meeting of the Athletic Association held yesterday in the Common Room, two very important decisions were made. The one was that fank skating be revived this year; the other, that the R.V.C.A.A. hold a swimming party.

As in other years fancy skating has proved a great success, it cannot help proving a success this year. The following committee was formed to help Miss Imrie, the Fancy Skating convenor:

Third Year—Dorothea Ayles.
Second Year—Lois Ayles.

First Year—Zerilda Slack.

It is hoped that Miss Merit will act as the instructor, but this is not affirmed. To the members will be left the discussion of the fees and the time. As to the swimming party, this is entirely a new event, and thus it is hoped it will prove a success. Yet so eager are all the students, it could hardly prove otherwise. Miss Allie Douglas was unanimously elected manager of this party, and the following committee to help her:

Third Year—Kitty Gillespie.
Second Year—Jean Henderson.

First Year—Edith Campbell.

The programme will be left entirely in the hands of the committee.

All students interested in hockey are asked to watch the notice board.

When you feel you should be fed, "Strike is on."

Here and there the cops have said, "Strike is on!"

Even when you come to die, Then the undertakers cry: "There you'll have to lie,— Strike is on!"

—Exch.

The arch criminal, William Hohen-zollern, is making a big mistake. Instead of using wood he should be practising breaking up stones.

STUDENT BODY DECIDES MANY NEW MATTERS

Addressed By Messrs. Hodgins, Derrick, Buckland and Peterson.

MUCH DISCUSSION.

Many Good Times In Store For Winter Months.

What might be termed a composite meeting of the student body was held last night in the Assembly Hall at 6.45. S. R. N. Hodgins, President of the Students' Council, being in the chair.

The first matter laid before the was the question of having December 12th as free night instead of Saturday the 13th. The reason for the change is that Perron's Orchestra is to entertain the Macdonald Club that evening, and the latter have very kindly extended an invitation to the student body to share their pleasure.

With such an opportunity for an evening's pleasurable enjoyment at stake the Student Body did not hesitate to vote unanimous approval of Friday, December 12th, as free night. The next thing Mr. Hodgins, at the request of Principal Harrison, referred to was the matter of students smuggling friends into the residence for meals and also keeping them over night. This practice, putting it mildly, is reprehensible, an obscenity, a poor sense of honor for those persisting in it. A student who does not wish to abide by the rules of the institution, is in the opinion of the reporter, a menace to the rest of the student body, for he, or she, not only curtails our privileges and enjoyments, but also brings discredit on the institution. So play the game, everybody, and give the staff a square deal.

As was stated in the introduction, this meeting was composite in character. So the next speaker was Mr. Derrick, Editor of the Mag. Mr. Derrick called for constructive criticism of the first edition, which has just been issued. In the opinion of many this edition is a credit to the School of Agriculture, but contributions from Teachers and Science are sadly lacking.

The editorial board of the Magazine cannot write all the articles, so here is a chance for the students to give a practical demonstration of their interest in this periodical. The Magazine is deserving of the whole-hearted support it must have if it is to be a success. So you fellows that have some spare time on your hands have at your disposal a means of turning that time to the best possible advantage. But the Mag. is a Macdonald production; Macdonald includes the Schools for Teaching and Household

NEW GRAND.

It is one of the most wonderful things structing a masterpiece such as "Broken Blossoms," he is able to forget about the motion-picture art of David Wark Griffith that even when con-for a time the liveliness and main appeal of his story to pay minute, even microscopic attention to some small detail that, perhaps not ten per cent of his audiences would ever regard as essential.

In his grimly beautiful spectacle, "Broken Blossoms," to be shown all this week at the New Grand Theatre, that takes place in "the low-ly Causeway that links from the West India to the dark waste of water beyond," Mr. Griffith has stripped the original story by Thomas Burke down to its essential characters. And yet he has understood that to make people thoroughly understand the true nature of the Chinese poet, Cheng Huan, something must be known of his past; he must show that Cheng Huan was not simply a product of that one room over Tat Pu's store in Pennyfields, but must bring his audiences to realize that this Chinese poet had a heart filled with the murmuring of plum blossoms, rice-fields and the stream.

And so there is brought into the picture a vision of Cheng Huan taking his departure from the lands of his ancestors. Like a good Buddhist that he is, he pays strict attention to the religious and poetic ceremonial, and the last thing he does before leaving for Shanghai is to visit a Buddhist temple and recite the "Lel-hel" or the prayers of "The Day."

That this ceremony might be fittingly portrayed, Mr. Griffith secured the services of an eminent Chinese educator, holding a professorship in one of our leading universities. When consulted about this scene in which Cheng Huan is first introduced, this Chinese professor became so interested that he confessed to Mr. Griffith that in his youth he had been educated for the Buddhist priesthood. Of his own accord he accompanied Mr. Griffith to a Buddhist temple; shaved his venerable head, after the manner of the Buddhist priests, and donned the simple but artistic robes of the order. Then Mr. Richard Barthelmess came before him, the entire Buddhist ceremony was gone through elaborately and with strict attention to correct detail. The gentleman who played the part of the priest declined to be paid for his services.

Science as well as the School of Agriculture.

Therefore it should be as incumbent on them as on the Aggies to make the Mag. a periodical to be prized. The last issue was practically devoid of articles from the girls, but we hope to see the next issue more balanced, giving evidence of a live bunch of girls across the campus. The Mag. board retires at Xmas, and is anxious to make the next edition the best on record.

Mr. A. J. Buckland, President of the Literary and Debating Society, brought before the meeting the question of having the Apollo Glee Club come out some time this winter.

The meeting unanimously decided to support the executive of the Lit. in this undertaking.

Finally Mr. C. F. Peterson requested the men students to meet this morning at 7.15 in the Men's Residence, so as to parade in a body to the dining room, and give a good send-off to the judging team. These men are to be congratulated on being chosen for this important position, and we wish them every success in their competition. Also we may add that it is our confident belief that we can.

"Tell the world that cup comes too." So her's luck to our judging team.

LETTERS OF A FRESHMAN.

—By Gen.

Strathcona's Hall
The McGill University,
Nov. 20th, 1919.

Dear Pa:—

Consarn it all, Pa. I don't see why you got to go and get your dander up and everything, just because a couple of girls from the Faculty of Art said a few kind words to me. The way you lambasted me all over the lot, you'd think that I spoke to these here girls with a view to friendship in the first instance, followed by feelings of a warmer nature.

Even at that, I sure do need all the kindness I can get here at the old McGill, because I'm just getting hep to the idea that mon'n one person's been pulling my leg as the saying is. For instance, you mind my telling you about one of the boys of '21 Laws (Today's Special—Fried Fish) explaining the football rules to me. Well, Sir, I won't mention no names, but this fellow explained them all wrong to me and I went out and made a dum fool of myself. Drat it all, Pa, this kind of thing makes me feel low in my mind and sort of small like. Some day, one of these here smart guys is going to get a dum good bust on the jaw, I'll inform the Universe. Never mind, Pa, it's a long lane that has no ash-barrel, and even a worm will reverse the position. I may be a hay-seed, but "A man's a man's man and all of that"—Bums. Ain't it the truth, Pa?

At the present moment of time, they's peace and quiet in our diggings and this is the reason. My roomie, old Austy Heron is all right busy preparing his notes and everything for the debate between Laws and Art. I asked him what was the subject of the debate and he answered back: "Revolved that you can't drink the booze faster'n it's made." Austy has the affirmation, and so help me, fish-hooks, if any man can prove it, Austy is that there man. Let me tell you, Pa, that Austy has so diin many brains, they keep him awake all night.

Just the same, I ain't feeling any too balmy towards Austy, and this is the reason. It appears that he got hold of one of my letters to you and went and had it printed in McGill Daily Journal Newspaper. I was as mad as a horned toad at first, but when I heard tell that over fifty Art students had to be carried out of the Art building on stretchers on account they had hysterics over my jokes, I toned down some and decided to let be-gones be be-gones. As the saying is—"Where ignorance is a blessing, 'tis wise to be foolish." I guess, this here Charlie Chapman better look out for his job, eh Pa?

Well, Pa, I want to tell you something about my work down to the Court House, which is a big building on the Shawm de Merse. You see, Pa, I'm a Student-with-laws in the firm of Ketchum & Fleecem, and if I do say it myself, little SI is kind of valuable to the firm, although the doggoned office boy said this morning that the firm had as much need of me as a cattie had of wings. If they's one thing more'n another that raises my dander, it's one of the order. Then Mr. Richard Barthelmess came before him, the entire Buddhist ceremony was gone through elaborately and with strict attention to correct detail. The gentleman who played the part of the priest declined to be paid for his services.

He is now back at his professional duties, but his hair which he unselfishly sacrificed for the sake of Mr. Griffith's art has grown again and it is unlikely that any of his friends will distinguish him on the screen. Mr. Griffith was anxious to give him credit on the programme for his excellent acting but for many reasons the distinguished Chinese student asked that his name be not used; and in the Griffith studio he is known only as "The Nameless One"; a Chinese artist for Art's sake.

MAC JUDGING TEAM LEAVES FOR CHICAGO

Prof. Barton Feels Confident Of Their Success.

LIVE STOCK JUDGING.

Team Will Compete Against All America At International On Saturday.

To-day Prof. H. Barton of the Animal Husbandry Department, Macdonald College, leaves for Chicago with his Livestock Judging Team. He has with him S. R. N. Hodgins, A. L. Hay, J. E. Ness, W. Elmo Ashton and W. J. Dunsmore, all fourth year Animal Husbandry students. This team will represent Macdonald College at the International Live Stock Judging Competition, to be held in Chicago on Saturday, Nov. 29th, and will compete with the picked men of all the State Universities in America, and the leading Agricultural Colleges in Canada.

This competition is the biggest thing in the years work of the Agricultural Colleges throughout America, and is one of the outstanding features of the famous Live Stock Show held each year at Chicago. It is the only occasion when men trained in different Universities have the opportunity of competing with one another, and of putting to the test the systems of training employed at the different seats of learning.

Twelve classes of Live Stock will be judged in this competition—three classes of draft horses, three of beef cattle, three of sheep and three of swine, and each man will be scored individually in each class with 50 per cent of the available marks allotted for placings and 50 per cent for the reasons for these placings as they appear to the tribunals. It will be a gruelling day's work. Judging will begin at 7.30 a.m. and will occupy the greater part of the forenoon. In the afternoon the students will begin going before the various tribunals to unfold their placings, and this work will continue well on to mid-night—a gruelling day, but worth it particularly for the successful team.

This is the third time Macdonald has entered this competition. The first time was in 1911 when the team won first position. A team entered the competition in 1913 and secured seventh position. Since that time the classes have been small due to war-time conditions, and it was impossible to get the material for a team during these lean years. This year, however, the classes are again full and a determined effort will be made to bring the cup to Macdonald again, and it is hoped that Macdonald will be Our best wishes for success goes with them.

Of these here vulgarations. Anyways, I've got to trot over to the Court House 8 or 9 times a day, regular and gosh all hickory nuts, I ain't got the heft of things yet. Par exemple (if you mind, this is french for showing you a specimen of what I'm trying to tell you) par exemple, this morning, I had to file a write in summons and I clean forgot how to do it. But lucky for me, I run into Jerry (Seelence) Phillimore of '21 Laws (Fried Tripe always on Tapi known around the Faculty, as the man who can make Procedure call him Papa in seven different languages. I asked Jerry how to file the writ and he stretchers on account they had hysterics the Judges in the Court of King's Ing," he says, "but walk right up to Bench. Don't mind if the Judge is talking him, brave like." Which same I did and I thought I'd run into a hornet's nest, the Judge was so dum mad. I seen Jerry Phillimore and he said I must have got into room 23 when He told me room 33.

Anyways, I kind of cooled off and went down to the Aunt Kate Court office. Here, I asked one of the gents to let me give one of the big Record Books the North and South, which is Loew's Theatre for "Can I have a look at it," and what do you think he answered back? He said—"Go away, you crazy foolish, I cannot suffer at dese persecutions. It eez assez. All I want from you eez silence and 'ver leetle of dat. If you make me some more annoyance, I'll pass my han' on your face, sure 'ting." Believe it, I'm dum near bust this canary one on the jaw, myself. It brains was water, this bird would die of thirst.

You probably seen what old McGill done to Varsity College. Oh you Nuxated Iron, eh Pa! I sat with the Roofers' Club and had more fun than a barrel of monkeys.

Fond regards to Ma and the girls and remember me to old Dobbin.

Your loving Son,
SI.

MCGILL MAN'S HEROIC ACT SAVES LIFE

"Med." Showed Courage At Laval Fire.

PIERRE BOUCHER.

Braved Fire and Smoke To Carry Unconscious Man To Safety.

To a McGill student, Pierre Boucher, Med. '23, the well-known runner, goes the distinction of having probably saved the life of a Montreal man.

On Saturday night Boucher, accompanied by his room-mate, Lawrence Genest, Laval, Medicine '22, went down to the University, the latter being interested in the results of the Medical Faculty elections which had taken place in the afternoon.

While his companion went to get the election results, Boucher decided to take a stroll around the building. It was about this time that the cry of fire rang out, and soon smoke began to drift along the corridors. The Laval students made a rush for the internal hose lines and fire-extinguishers, but were soon forced to retreat by reason of the smoke, which was rapidly filling the building.

By this time the Montreal Fire Brigade had arrived on the scene and everybody was ordered out of the building. A policeman approached Boucher and told him to go out saying that it was dangerous to remain any longer. However, the McGill man thought he had seen someone whom he took for a student, go upstairs and before the policeman could restrain him he dashed up the staircase. Reaching the third story, he stumbled over the prostrate body of an unconscious man, who had evidently been overcome by smoke. The man was of very heavy build, and after vainly endeavoring to lift the unconscious man, Boucher called down to the policeman to come up. With the aid of the latter, the McGill Med. managed to carry the man downstairs and out of the building, where first aid was administered to him.

It developed later that the man was not a fireman, as was first supposed, but merely a passer-by, who, upon hearing the alarm of fire, had rushed into the building to render what assistance he could. Like Boucher, he had gone upstairs to see if perchance someone had been overlooked and had himself fallen a victim to the smoke. The man's name is as yet unknown, but whoever he is, he owes his life to the conspicuous courage and efficiency of Boucher, one of "Old McGill."

ARTS SENIORS HOLD MEETING

Will Upper Years Have Attendance Rule.

Will the upper years in Arts continue to have an attendance rule? This question will be debated by the Arts Seniors at their meeting in the McGill Union this evening. The advisability of retaining this rule has long been discussed by the students of the Arts Faculty, and it is said that members of Arts '29 will ask their decision be considered by the Faculty. It appears that all of the students are not in favor of having the rule abolished, and some interesting discussion should result when the question is brought up for discussion. In addition, the opinions of the class members about the number of lectures required each week will be given.

The Arts Seniors apparently intend to inaugurate a policy of holding regular meetings at which questions of interest to the students at large will be discussed. After spending four years at the college these students are rather competent to give opinions about these subjects, and any decisions reached by them should be received with interest by the student body at large, as well as by the authorities in whose hands rests the making and changing of college regulations.

Several questions of purely class interest will also be discussed and the programme for the year prepared, so that the men may be fully aware of the class' intentions at an early date. There have been suggestions made about the convocation this year which should be interesting to all of the senior years. The closing exercises have been of necessity restricted during the past few years, and it is expected that the programme for this spring will be very interesting.

The meeting will commence at 8.15 o'clock this evening and will be concluded at a reasonably early hour.

The following men are asked to attend:

C. H. Adair, C. B. Smith, E. M. Greaves, R. D. Taylor, E. C. Martin, C. W. Townsend, W. A. Murray, E. A. Center, J. C. McClure, L. K. Friedman, N. E. Peterson, J. N. Peterson, O. B. Evans, H. A. Covel, W. B. Somerville, H. C. Knowlton, W. L. Duncan, S.

"Bean" Supper Enjoyed By Over Sixty Students.

Over 60 men turned out to the second weekly "bean" supper which was held last night at 6.00 o'clock in the Hall. They first sat down to a good, old-fashioned supper, consisting of beans, bread and butter, cake and coffee and ice-cream. After this palatial banquet, the men adjourned to classes for bible study under Profs. Graham, Reilly and Ritchie, and Messrs. Mackay and Maclean. They have the choice of two courses of study, namely: "Jesus in Records" and "The Manhood of the Master."

At present there are only five groups but it is hoped that more groups can be started as soon as possible, so that the work may be studied in detail and also that there may be more opportunity for discussion.

MANDOLIN CLUB HOLDS PRACTICE

Attendance Small But Music Good—New Pieces Tried Successfully.

The weekly meeting of the Mandolin Club was held last night at Peate's. An entirely new score of music was tried and will be played at the next engagement in the near future. The picture of the club will be taken very shortly for the Annual. Watch the "Daily" for particulars.

A small number were present last evening. This, of course, may be blamed on the weather, but all members are requested to turn out for next Monday's practice at 7.15 p.m.

E. T. CLUB IS SUCCESSFULLY REORGANIZED

Dr. Geo. Armstrong Elected Honorary President.

SMOKER SOON.

Canvass Of Eastern Townships Students Will Be Completed This Week.

The Eastern Townships Club has again taken its place among the clubs at McGill. At the initial meeting last night, the club elected its officers for the ensuing year, and decided on its programme for the season.

At 5.40 the members gathered in the Grill Room of the Union, and proceeded to the election of officers. The executive immediately assumed office.

Honorary President—Dr. George Armstrong. President—S. J. Standish. Science '19. Vice-President—D. O. MacDonald, Medicine '22. Secretary—F. V. Hudon.

Social Representatives: Arts—A. S. Johnson, Arts '22. Science—S. C. Hill, Science '21. Law—Abbott.

Dentistry—Martin. The membership of the club is extended to men from the counties of Huntingdon, Yamaska and Rouville, as well as those from the official "Eastern Townships"; therefore any men from these three counties who did not turn out for the initial meeting are cordially invited to be present at the next one, the date of which will be duly announced through these columns by the executive.

The membership fee is $1.00 per annum. It is felt that such a moderate sum need deter no one from joining the organization.

No very pretentious programme is planned for this term, nothing will be held before Christmas, except a general smoker for the men to get acquainted with one another. The details of further social items are in the hands of the executive.

The Social Representatives will make a thorough canvass of the Eastern Townships students within the next week. All men who can possibly join and every E. T. man should be able to find time to devote one evening a month to his Home Club, is urged to sign the subscription list in the hands of this official representative. Please do not give your dollar to anyone except the men listed above as Social Representatives as a dollar so given is likely never to reach the Club Funds.

There may be men in the University whose actual home address is no longer the Eastern Townships, but who have at one time resided in "the Garden of Quebec." Those men will be very welcome to membership in the club, and the executive extends a hearty invitation to them to attend all the functions of the organization—and to pay the initiation fee, as well. If any other English-speaking "Quebecers" from the South Shore whose home address is neither the Eastern Townships or one of the counties listed above will please give their names to one of the executive, their candidacy for membership will be submitted to the club, and they will in all probability be admitted to full privileges. The main idea of the club is not to promote narrow sectionalism, but to

ENTHUSIASM SHOWN OVER CONVENTION

Western Canada Sending Large Quota.

MCGILL NEEDS SUPPORT

Applications Close Dec. 1st—Men Must Act at Once.

The enthusiasm with which the Student Volunteer Convention is being anticipated is evidenced by the size of the delegations being registered throughout Canada and the United States, and the eagerness with which extra places are being sought for by students who cannot be included in the quota sent from the colleges. When one hears what is being done by other institutions, some of them small, and much farther away from Des Moines than ours, he is apt to wonder if we have taken the matter seriously, or realized the importance of the big convention.

Toronto University is sending a delegation of between 90 and 100. Outside the University from other institutions in the city there will be 35 others. From English Columbia 1000 students are sending 11 student delegates and three professors. The University of Alberta from a registration of about 1200 is sending 23 (full quota) and asking for five more places. Mt. Allison, in New Brunswick, is sending full quota and asking for extra places. Dalhousie also reports a full quota delegation.

Here at McGill with a possible representation of about 45 from the University and the affiliated colleges, we modestly aspire to a delegation of 20, exclusive of those who might be sent through funds other than that raised by the committee. All registrations of delegates must be made in New York before Dec. 1st. So our time for action is short, and there is still much to be done before even our moderate aspiration can be realized.

The churches have in several cases responded very generously to the invitation to assist in financing the McGill delegation, and many are yet to be heard from. To-day there is money enough in sight to send 12 leaving 8 to be provided for before the original goal is reached. In addition, the Theological Board is sending a student from each of the Theological colleges, and one professor. The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian College has decided to send one man. If other organizations should decide to follow up the example there will be room for their delegates.

The committee, headed by Dean Adams, will be at work in a day or two making a selection from various applications and nominations of delegates for Des Moines. Any student who desires to go should make application at once to the chairman of the Convention Committee at Strathcona Hall, stating year, faculty, address, and what part of his expenses he can bear personally. It is safe to say that no investment of the year will give better returns, or greater satisfaction.

create a feeling of good fellowship among the students as a whole, by getting together with other sectional clubs for social gatherings of various natures. For this reason, it is desired to make the membership as representative as possible.

PROF. GAGNE LEADER FOR ORCHESTRA

A "Shag" Secured To Lead Orchestra.

GOOD YEAR EXPECTED.

Invitation Extended To All Students Interested in Orchestral Work.

At the regular practice of the Orchestra last evening it was announced that the services of the eminent Montreal musician, Prof. J. J. Gagne, have been obtained as conductor. Prof. Gagne is well known in Montreal as a musical director of wide experience and rare merit. He was at one time chorus master and assistant conductor of the National Grand Opera Company of Montreal. He is at present conductor of the Grenadier Guards Band which is famous throughout Canada, and is also actively interested as director of a Montreal Amateur Operatic Society, which recently scored such a notable success in the production of "Werther" at the St. Denis Theatre.

The leadership of this eminent director will doubtless result in a banner year for the McGill Students' Orchestra. Now that a "Shag" has been obtained to "coach," it is expected that the Orchestra will become the champion organization in the field of music at McGill. It has been left for some time that an orchestra of at least fifty pieces, which would be a credit to the University, has been needed at McGill, but up to the present there has not been the necessary incentive to get all our musical talent to work. This incentive has now been supplied and it is up to all students who play orchestral instruments to turn out at the regular practice next Monday evening and give Prof. Gagne their hearty support.

It is pointed out that it is not necessary to be an "expert" in order to play in the Orchestra. Many fellows musically inclined feel that they cannot play well enough to join an orchestra. This is a mistake. The purpose of the Orchestra is to develop the musical talent at McGill by getting together all the students interested in orchestral work and through practices and concerts to help the individual players along with their own instruments. At the same time the Orchestra supplies musical entertainment at the majority of college functions.

Thanks to the good offices of the Union House Committee, the Orchestra has been allotted a suitable room in which to hold practices, and provided with an excellent piano.

A quantity of new music of the lighter variety has been purchased, which always adds to the enjoyment of the practices. "Chu Chin Chow," made a big hit with the members of the Orchestra last evening.

It is urgently requested that all students able to play orchestral instruments turn out next Monday evening—the first practice under Prof. Gagne. Players of the following instruments are particularly needed, viz: viola, clarinet, trombone, horn and drums.

COMPETITION FOR DRAWINGS OPENS

Now that the final list of drawings required for the 1921 Annual has been decided upon, it is only up to the students of the University to set to work and draw them. Over 65 will be printed this year, against 27 of last, thus giving everybody who wishes to put in a drawing, a better chance of having it accepted.

As was done in past years, complimentary Annuals will be given those whose drawings are accepted.

Pen and ink drawings are the only type that can be taken.

Drawings may be larger in proportion, but never smaller than five by seven inches. It would facilitate matters if those wishing to draw certain particular plates, would let the Art Editor know, so as to avoid undue overlapping. A good number of drawings are already under way, as the complete set will have to be in before the New Year. Further information can be got by either writing to, or interviewing G. Durnford, Art Editor, Room 61 Engineering Building.

UNION CAFETERIA HAS GREAT MENU.

The Cafeteria at the Union is getting to be the steady eating house of most of the out-of-town students. Those who had dinner there last night were agreeably surprised at the cheap price at which the steak was sold. This is due to careful management in buying the meat, and proved a great success, for in a few minutes the supply of steak was exhausted. Such cheap prices for food should bring more students to realize that they could not get such a good meal elsewhere for the price they pay at the Union. Other reservations and extras are to be had everyday, so that McGill students should patronize such a good place to eat.

AT THE THEATRES

IMPERIAL.

In the Aircraft picture, "The White Heather," starring William Courtney and Jane Grey, the Imperial presents a very attractive film, both from the picturesque and the dramatic standpoint.

Courtesy, as Alec Cameron, a London stock-jobber, loses his money in a financial panic, and is compelled to seek aid of his brother in Scotland. He is advised to marry an heiress, but cannot do so as he is already secretly married to his sister's friend, played by Jane Grey. The shield of this marriage is the only obstacle to his financial recovery, so Cameron shoots it while on a hunting trip. It is only injured, however, and complications ensue. The only proof of the secret marriage is entered in the log-book of a yacht, which has been wrecked. The search for the log-book provides plenty of exciting action. Cameron is killed by a former rival in a wild submarine battle. The rival obtains the log-book and Cameron's former wife.

A Mutt and Jeff comedy, Scenes along the St. Maurice, a British Official News and Kinograms, as well as the usual musical selection by the Imperial Orchestra complete an excellent programme.

PRINCESS.

The performance at the Princess this week is decidedly up to the average of vaudeville shows to-day. The opening act is "Jim," the shimmy king, who proves quite a surprise and very adept at the art, if such it might be styled, of shimmying.

The Follies Sisters come next, substituting for Ed. Ford, the English comedian. They present some very lively songs and dances. Coakely and Dunleavy are two block face comedians who keep the audience in uproars. The Archers present some lively entertainment of the same sort.

The playlet entitled "Mrs. Wellington's Surprise," has some very humorous lines and situations, and proved immensely popular.

Patricia proved the most popular personage on the programme. Her songs were all lively and called forth rounds of applause. She was forced to encore several times before the audience was satisfied.

Gilman and Marguerite presented a very fine dancing act, which was well received. Marguerite is very talented and graceful, and her dancing was a pleasure to watch. Griffith assisted at the piano.

The next act consisted of a man with forty faces, who is beginning his appearance in America in Montreal.

The "Modern Mirage" is a very well prepared set of tableaux, which embodies some fine use of slides.

HOLMAN.

"Checkers," a drama of the race-track, is the chief attraction at the Holman this week. Thomas Carrigan, as "Checkers," plays the part of the race-track tout. He is supported by Jean Ackel, as "Pett," the unwilling fiancée of a good-for-nothing drunkard. "Checkers" and "Pett" elope, taking with them "Pett's" horse, "Remorse," in order to compete against her former flame on the following day. The enraged and deserted fiancée plans revenge. There is a train wreck and a miraculous escape. But "Remorse," the hero and the heroine win out in the end.

Following an amusing comedy entitled "Babies in Babes," community singing, consisting of a competition between the gallery and the lower floor in the ringing of "Tell Me," was much enjoyed by the audience. Some very clear pictures of the Prince's visit to New York and a number of the Herald Screen Magazine bring the performance to a close.

LOEW'S.

The bill at Loew's this week is exceptionally good. The show opens with a Sunshine comedy, "Wild Waves and Wild Women," which is full of real hearty laughs and novel stunts. An item of especial interest to Canadians is a Fox cinema record of the Prince's visit to New York. It shows very well how our neighbors to the south gave a hearty welcome to England's future ruler.

The vaudeville part of the programme is well worth seeing. Francis and Martha give the audience many thrills and laughs in their versatile act of daring tumblers, clever acrobatics and catchy songs.

Fred Ferdinand's whistling act was really unique, his songs and stories were greatly appreciated by the large audience. His translation into French of "O! What a Pal Was Mary," is quite worthy of note.

The clever songs and patter of Chase and Laford brought the house down again and again, but unfortunately they detracted a little from the value of their act by a weak ending.

Stein and Arnold have several good songs and jokes.

The Eight Dominoes treat the audience to many good musical numbers, among them selections from Italian operas. Their scene and costumes are very artistic.

The picture of the evening, "The Westerners," is a powerful melodrama of the early West. It shows the early pioneers striking west in search of gold, amongst whom we find Jim Branchley, the scout; Mike Lafond,

THE AEROPLANE IN CANADA

An Aircraft Magazine, containing news of aeronautical doings, the world over, together with the latest technical information concerning the business and science of Aviation, will commence publication with its Christmas Number—off the press on or about December 15th, 1919.

This magazine is devoted to the special interests of Aviation and Aviators in the Western Hemisphere. Affiliation with "THE AEROPLANE" of London, Eng., the recognized authority in European aeronautics, provides it with advantages which can be obtained only by years of specialized experience.

To introduce this publication among the students of McGill a special subscription office is being opened, for $1.

PUBLICATION OFFICE: SUITE 4, STERLING PRESS BUILDING, 24 NOTRE DAME ST. W. and Oliver Avenue, MONTREAL, QUE. Single Copies 25c. By the Year $2.00

THE AEROPLANE IN CANADA

Drakon offers him a chance to start afresh, but he declines.

He is willing to consent to the divorce, but when he tells his wife how he has suffered without her, she decides to go back to him. She urges him to accept Drakon's offer to go to Mexico, and with his ambition renewed he does so.

The acting of the company is exceptional, and Charles Andre, as Drakon, is especially worthy of mention.

THE GAYETY.

The show this week, although this is its third appearance in Montreal, is in some respects varied from its previous form. The first and second acts are absolutely different and bear no connection with each other.

The stars did well in their parts any played as favorite.

Miss Ede May is superior to the position she acted, and displayed on occasion powers which should befit a higher role. Miss Osbourne is excellent in her line. Perhaps the best part of the whole show was the two comedians who really merited the many laughs they drew forth repeatedly from the audience. These two artists are very good in dialogue and comic stunts. Their vocal abilities are only fair, but they make up for this in the versatility of their actions.

The chorus, eighteen in number, is about the usual Gayety standard.

RE-CORRESPONDENCE.

In reply to the letter received from a student in Commerce, we should like to state that the company to which an application for Victory Bonds to be bought on the "Installment" plan is the Sun Trust Company, 99 St. James street, C.
